Park/Apple Valley substantially decreased its supplier diversity spending from last year, by $3.9 million or 6.73 percent. The majority of the company’s DBE spending comes from Latino/a businesses (40.05 percent), WBEs (29.17 percent), and LGBTBEs (27.89 percent). Park/Apple Valley is the only company in this report to spend zero dollars with two diverse business categories, African Americans and Native Americans. In 2016 it attended 18 outreach events and its major areas of DBE spending came from heavy construction, printing and publishing, and pipelines (except natural gas). Given its headquarters in California and disparate spending among DBEs, the company must make great investments in its program and devise specific strategies for African American and Native American companies.
